Announced That St. Paul Globe Will Suspend on

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ST. PAUL, MINN., April 21.—After a life of thirty years the St. Paul Globe has announced its suspension with the issue of April 36th. The Globe at the prosent time is doing better than it ever did. It is nearly on a paying basis, but the edict has been signed consigning the paper to oblivion.

The paper's circulation is greater than ever before, but the advertising is rather slack. In spite of apparent prosperity the apolls. he Pioneer Press is also owned by iii, it was determined to suspend the and concentrate upon the Pioneer

Meeting to be Held in This City.

Charges May be Investigated.

The State Board of Education will meet in this city next Thursday to take up the matter of the election of division superintendents of schools toroughout the State. It is understood that there will be few of any changes made by consolidation, this plan being impracticable under existing statutes. There are contests for superintendencies in thirty-eight counties of the State, that is to say there is one or more applicants in each of those counties. The date for filling applications was April 16th, none being received thereafter, according to former announcement. The cities of Danville and Radford and the counties of Southampton and Amelia have no candidates.

One of the interesting reports in circulation in connection with the board or had ever had any connection with the Register. It is said to have been de-vised by a teacher who years ago sold the copyright to the publisher.

Southern Tobacconist Says His Report Leads Them All.

The Southerns Tobacconist and Modern Farmer has the following to say in praise of Commissioner Koiner's report:

"George W. Koiner, Virginia's commissioner of Agriculture, has just sent out his report rot 1904 and it is a beauty. It is the handsomest agricultural report published in the country. Commissioner Coburn's book on Kansas farming comes next. Mr. Koiner's report contains a large number of varticles by good writers showing what can be accomplished by Virginia farmers and a number of truth telling pictures add to its interest. The State could sint of do better than send a half million copies of this book to farmers in the North." Report Leads Them All.
